Profile

Louise Ward Morris GBA is a Brighton-based visual artist who works with video, sculpture, installations, and computer networks to question the ever-intensifying connection between people and technology. In 2021 Louise received an MA in Fine Art with distinction from Central Saint Martins where she was awarded the South Square Trust Bursary, and later the 2022 Clifford Chance UAL Award for Sculpture. Louise is a 2023 Gilbert Bayes Award winner with the Royal Society of Sculptors and is also a society member.

She has exhibited in the UK at venues including Tate Modern, Saatchi Gallery, APT Gallery, Lux Moving Image and Candid Arts, and the Common Room in Shanghai. Her films have been selected for festivals including the 2021 London Short Film Festival and the Bomb Factory's 2021 Artist's Film Festival. Her work is in the UAL Collection. Previously, Louise worked professionally as an architect in London, Oxford and Madrid.
